Professional Emergency Services Certification Program

The NWSA has worked to produce a voluntary certification program for its members that would enable them to obtain a designation as a Professional Certified Emergency Services Contractor.

Our goal is to continue to be a leader in our industry in providing ongoing education opportunities to help our members keep up with the ongoing changes in the laws and regulations that govern our industry.

Professionally Trained Resources to help the agencies protect our environment, property and human life.

Costs to Participate in the Program

You must first be a paid member of NWSA and then the costs to participate in the initial training program is $100.00, and the company owner, or CEO must attend that training. You can also bring in your management people to attend at an additional $30.00 per person.

How does the program Work

There are two phases of the program, the first phase is an 8 hours training sessions that includes the following

NWSA Training Committee at Work

The second phase is maintaining your certification. To do this you must have 8 hours of training per year, here are the two ways to do this:

1. Attend the training workshops at the Annual NWSA Conference the first day of the meeting. (8 Hours worth of sessions).
2. Attend training locally given by recognized agencies such as:

DOT, DOL, OSHA, Worker's Compensation Carriers, or a qualified Community College course on Business Ethics.

These courses need to issue a certification of completion and you must send a copy of the Certificate to the NWSA Office to track your currency.
